

Everyone who works with children has a responsibility for keeping them safe. All practitioners are charged with the role to safeguard and protect children and young people (Under the age of 18 years) from harm, neglect, abuse or exploitation from within their family and from individuals they come across in their day-to-day lives. These threats can take a variety of different forms, including sexual, physical and emotional abuse; neglect; exploitation by criminal gangs and organised crime groups; trafficking; online abuse; sexual exploitation and the influences of extremism leading to radicalisation. Whatever the form of abuse or neglect, practitioners should put the needs of children first when determining what action to take (Keeping Children Safe in Education 2018).
